Wake Electric has capital credits for former members

When Wake Electric makes more money than it needs for operating costs, we return that money to you – our members– in the form of capital credits. Because the formula for distribution is based on prior years of operation, often customers who are entitled to capital credits have moved, and it becomes difficult to locate them. If the U.S. Postal Service returns a capital credit check to us, we make every effort to locate the person entitled to the check.

Please review the following list of persons whose Wake Electric capital credit checks have been returned to us, because we do not have a current address for the recipient. If you see your name, please contact Wake Electric. If you see the names of family, friends or associates, please have them contact Wake Electric as well.

Wake Electric introduces digital meters

To better serve our members and promote advances in technology and innovation, Wake Electric has started installing digital meters. The new meters will improve accuracy and reduce time in meter reading.

Meter readers will no longer need to come on your property to acquire a reading. Instead, digital meters can be read remotely using electronic technology. The meters will transmit electricity usage to meter readers over a secure radio frequency.

Digital meters are more accurate, convenient and more member-friendly than dial meters. Meter readings will be clearly displayed on the meter face and will eliminate the confusion associated with dial readings. Installation is simple and will only take a few minutes. Electric service to your home or business will be temporarily interrupted while the new meter is installed.

Wake Electric, a Touchstone Energy cooperative, is dedicated to serving our members with integrity, accountability, innovation and commitment to community. For more information on the new metering system, please feel free to contact us.

Teachers: Apply now for a Bright Ideas grant from Wake Electric

There is only one month left to apply for a Bright Ideas grant for the 2006–2007 school year. All North Carolina certified K–12 teachers are eligible for a Bright Ideas grant. North Carolina's Touchstone Energy cooperatives have financed a variety of hands-on projects, including activities in music, art, history, language, reading, science, career planning, and information technology.

Winning teachers have reported inspiring stories about the enthusiasm their projects have generated among their students. Since it began in 1994, the Bright Ideas program has awarded more than $4 million in grant money to North Carolina's teachers to sponsor 3,500 projects teaching more than 700,000 students.

Teachers can apply online for a Bright Ideas education grant at www.ncbrightideas.com. The final deadline for applications is September 29, 2006. The maximum grant amount is $1,500. All applications must be submitted online.

Wake Electric is accepting applications for Classroom Technology awards

The annual Classroom Technology awards program is underway at Wake Electric. Classroom Technology awards are given to area teachers and educators to supplement their annual budget. Teachers can purchase cameras, software, computer equipment, printers, scanners, etc. The technology must serve to benefit the students.

Interested teachers can apply for a Classroom Technology award at www.wemc.com. Area educators in Durham, Franklin, Granville, Johnston, Nash, Vance and Wake counties are eligible.

The application deadline is September 29, 2006. For additional information, contact Matt Vernon at Wake Electric.
